Program

We offer 30-minute presentations focused on the basics to get you comfortable with using the outdoors as a classroom. Topics covered include:

- Overcoming Hurdles to Taking your Class Outdoors: What's stopping you?
- Basic Risk Management
- Integrating Subjects in Outdoor Settings: Can I teach my subject outside?
- Connecting your Students to Nature: Need some hands-on activities for the schoolyard?

This learning opportunity is being offered through a grant from Alberta Education.

Presenters

Sanne van der Ros

Sanne van der Ros (B.Ed, MA in Environmental Education and Communications) has worked for Parks Canada for four years. She has taught environmental and outdoor education programs for students from Kindergarten to Grade 12 for twenty years at outdoor centres, private and public schools, and in the non-profit and government sectors. She has also led professional development workshops for teachers at regional, provincial and national environmental education conferences for over a decade, enabling teachers to connect their students to nature and the outdoors in meaningful ways.

Jamie Orfald-Clarke

Jamie Orfald-Clarke has worked for Parks Canada in Jasper National Park for four years. As an outdoor and experiential educator, he facilitates Alberta curriculum-linked programming to K-12 students, as well as high school credit programs. Jamie brings over a decade of experience as a backcountry trip leader and outdoor educator together with his training, education, and experience as a high school math and science teacher to engage meaningfully with thousands of children and youth in the outdoors.
